THE BIRTH OF THE HUNGER FREE CAMPAIGN

In 2014, the Celani Family Foundation initiated the Hunger Free in the D campaign after reading about how many struggling Michigan families went without a Thanksgiving meal. Instead of standing along the sidelines, they decided to launch the Hunger Free in the D campaign. Celani Family Foundation has committed to donating $250,000 to Capuchin Soup Kitchen and Gleaners Community Food Bank. Collaborating with Paul W. Smith of WJR radio, the Hunger Free in the D Telethon was born. In the first year, the campaign raised more than $250,000.

In the late 60's, Tom's father worked with Detroit Councilman Jack Kelly and the Capuchin Soup Kitchen to help fight hunger in Detroit. Tom, and his wife Vicki, also wanted to introduce their children to volunteering by participating in serving meals at the Capuchin Soup Kitchen.
